At the beginning of May the staff at the Indian Valley College Library created a survey asking which hours and services would be most useful for students. Twenty-seven students who frequented the library completed the survey. What follows is a summary of the statistics:

- Which hours of operation would be most useful to you?

  Of the evening hours listed, most students would prefer the library to open Monday and Thursday evenings. Tuesday and Wednesday could be viable options as well. Being open Friday evenings would not be as beneficial:

- If course reserves were readily available, would you use them?

  75% of students responded yes.

- If these services were available at the library, would you use them? Please check all that apply.
Color printing and a scanner would be useful. Research assistance and works cited/bibliography assistance would be used by, according to the sample, about one-quarter of students. Out of all the services mentioned, this library service could best aid students’ writing skills.

- Would you like to be able to request and pick up items from the Marin public libraries here at the IVC library?

73% of students responded yes.
